2024.. it was a very... interesting... year

*By Iyll Phillips,
Lincoln-Sentinel*

Looking back on the year we just left behind could leave a person scratching their head in confusion or disbelief. It was an interesting year we just experienced. On top of the list of weirdness is the way we all had to adjust to the crazy inflation from the year prior! That has put a pinch in the pocket for sure.

It's also not typical, especially in an election year, for one party to replace their candidate in the "final hour." Considering the number of elections in which I have personally cast a vote, which was a pretty odd event. Maintaining a neutral position, it was a weird election no matter how you look at it or which side you were on. Starting in early spring, 2024 was a busy year in Lincoln with tours, stopovers and more than the typical number of events planned. Business owners and community members rallied together, combining their strengths and talents and freshened up our little community to welcome our many visitors.

Apparently, a healthy snow storm the first part of January is trending in Lincoln County. The first issue in January 2024 carried this headline: "Snow and ice slow down the county."

"Two big snows in as many weeks have Lincoln County reeling. With some areas of the county checking in with up to nine inches of snow from the January 9 storm, we have had just had enough since then to keep the ground covered.

Snow is not the issue in Lincoln County and much of the country. The actual temperatures are as low as we've seen them for quite some time. Factor in the wind chill and it is colder than places we expect to be cold."

Other January events include Galen "Digger" Liggett's retirement in January 2004 after 50 years in banking with Citizens State Bank & Trust Co., at the Lincoln location.

Marilyn Helmer at Village Lines hosted a book signing for local author Heather Gabelmann for her new novel, The Water Below.

Kansas Farm Bureau Foundation accepting scholarship applications

The Kansas Farm Bureau (KFB) Foundation for Agriculture is now accepting applications for 2025 scholarship awards.

"Supporting education is one of the core missions of the Kansas Farm Bureau Foundation for Agriculture," says KFB President Joe Newland. "We are so proud to support the next generation of leaders in agriculture as they continue their education at institutions across the state."

The program offers up to 47 scholarships at universities, community and technical colleges in Kansas for students who demonstrate a commitment to agriculture, leadership and community involvement. To apply, students or their parents must have an active Kansas Farm Bureau membership.

Detailed guidelines and the application form are available at www.kfb.org/scholarships.

The deadline to apply is March 1.

The KFB Foundation for Agriculture has awarded more than $250,000 in scholarships over the past decade to ensure the continued growth and success of the agricultural industry.

Mitchell County Hospital launches Robotic Assisted Surgery

Mitchell County Hospital Health Systems (MCHHS) is excited to announce the implementation of the da Vinci Xi robotic surgical system in Beloit. This advanced technology allows surgeons to perform complex procedures with greater precision, flexibility, and control, enhancing the level of care available to patients. MCHHS will provide this additional option beginning in January 2025, so that you and your surgeon may select the surgical method that is best for you. Whether it is robotic, laparoscopic or traditional surgery, MCHHS can meet your needs right here close to home.

Surgical robotics provides numerous advantages for both patient and surgeon, making it one of the most frequently used surgical techniques today. Reasons for its popularity include enhanced accuracy, minimally invasive techniques, and improved outcomes.

For patients, robotic surgery offers benefits including less postoperative pain, faster recovery, minimal scarring, shorter hospital stays, and fewer complications, such as the risk of blood loss, blood clots and infection. Recovery from a robotic procedure generally takes 2-3 weeks compared to 4-6 weeks for traditional open surgery, allowing you to get back to your everyday life safer and faster.

Having utilized robotics in prior roles, Dr. Banker and Dr. Owens have been eager advocates of bringing this service to MCHHS. As trained robotic surgeons, they will be in the operating room and in complete control of every movement of the robotic instrument. Robotics provides the surgeon with greater visibility by magnifying the area up to ten times, and allows the surgeon to deliver steady, exact maneuvers. MCHHS surgeons are prepared to address multiple surgical needs with the use of the da Vinci robot, including hernia repair, gallbladder removal, appendix removal, and colorectal surgery.

"We are extremely proud to bring surgical robotics to our patients, a unique capability not often available for small hospitals, yet used now in almost every larger health setting" said Janelle Kircher, CEO of MCHHS. "Not only does it offer patients faster recovery with less pain, but it also allows our surgical team to perform complex procedures that would otherwise require patients to seek care in the big city. We are committed to our mission, increasing your access to high-quality care close to home, surrounded by the skilled and compassionate health-care team you trust."

The introduction of surgical robotics at MCHHS is especially significant for rural areas, where access to advanced medical technology is often limited. The reduced downtime associated with robotic surgery translates into faster returns to activities of daily living, work, and family life. Patients frequently experience less anxiety and feel more empowered as they recover with fewer physical limitations. This combination of benefits has made robotic assisted surgery an increasingly preferred choice for many procedures. Our first robotic assisted surgery is scheduled for January 6, 2025.

For more information on robotic assisted surgery or to schedule your consultation, please contact our surgery team at 785-738-9323.

KSU NC/NW Soil Fertility Schools

With fertilizer one of the most expensive components of your cropping system, it is increasingly important for producers to properly manage their agricultural inputs. To address the topic of fertility management, K-State Research and Extension, has scheduled four regional programs during the month of January 2025. These schools have been designed to help producers understand the fertilizer soil relationships to achieve a greater return from an investment in fertilizer especially in this farm environment.

The meetings schedule is the following:

- January 28 – Russell – 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. – 4-H Building
- January 29 – Osborne – 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. – United Christian Church
- January 29 – Rush Center – 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. – Walnut Valley Sr. Citizen Court
- January 30 – Sharon Springs – 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. (MT) – Community Activity Building

The schools will be presented by Dr. Dave Franzen, North Dakota retired agronomist and Dr. Dorivar Ruiz Diaz, KSU Fertility specialist along with local District Extension Agents. Topics will include KSU research updates, Soil sampling, New Fertility Recs with emphasis on Application Methods, Fertilizer Additives and a question and answer session. So be sure and bring all your questions with you! 2.5 CCA credits have been applied for.

There is no cost for the schools, however, pre-registration is requested by Friday, January 17 for all schools either online, https://kstate.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_cTszCQUOMzQkjZA, or at any of our Post Rock Extension District Offices in Beloit, Lincoln, Mankato, Osborne or Smith Center. If you have further questions, contact Sandra Wick, Crop Production Agent, at 785-282-6823. A minimum of 10 pre-registered producers are needed to hold each of the schools. Hope to see you there!

USDA to measure financial well-being of Kansas landowners

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) is gathering information about land ownership, income and expenses, as well as demographic and other landlord characteristics to provide detailed information from all agricultural landowners in Kansas, as the agency conducts the Tenure, Ownership, and Transition of Agricultural Land (TOTAL) survey. "TOTAL will measure the state of farmland ownership," said Doug Bounds, NASS Kansas State Statistician. "The results of this study help shape federal, state and local farm policies, and will help farmers and landowners plan farmland rental agreements." The results of the TOTAL survey are highly anticipated and will help accurately define the economic status of Kansas farm operations and households. Data provided will impact major decisions and policies impacting farmland and farm operations across the United States. "In February, we will begin contacting those who have not yet responded," said Bounds. "Our staff will gladly help landowners and producers complete their forms to simplify the process. It is important for producers to complete the survey so data are available to help them make better decisions and ensure local, state or government officials can adapt or create farm policy that works well and is based on accurate information." The TOTAL survey is part of the Census of Agriculture program. Participation in the Census of Agriculture program is both required and proected by law (Title 7, U.S. Code). NASS safeguards the privacy of all respondents, ensuring that no individual respondent or operation can be identified. Be assured that your responses will be kept completely confidential, as required by federal law. The data gathered in TOTAL will be published in the TOTAL report on October 31, 2025. That report and others are available at nass.usda.gov/publications. Additional data analysis and reports will be available at ers.usda.gov/arms.

Applications for 2025 Boys State of Kansas Session open

The American Legion Boys State of Kansas is accepting applications for its 2025 session. The event is set to be held Sunday, June 1, through Saturday, June 7, at Kansas State University in Manhattan. This will be the program's 33rd consecutive session at KSU and 87th overall. Traditionally, Kansas Boys State has been for individuals who will complete their junior year of high school in the spring just prior to the start of each session. However, the ALBSK program will again expand the pool of applicants for this year's session to also include those who will complete their sophomore year of high school this spring. The American Legion Boys State of Kansas program provides a relevant, interactive, problem-solving experience in leadership and teamwork that develops self-identity, promotes mutual respect and instills civic responsibility to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to community, state and nation. Boys State is a "learning by doing" political exercise that simulates elections, political parties and government at the state, county and local levels, providing opportunities to lead under pressure, showcasing character and working effectively within a team. It's also an opportunity to gain pride and respect for government, and the price paid by members of the military to preserve democracy. The cost to attend the Boys State of Kansas program is $375; however, in many instances, sponsors pay the majority of the fees, with the delegate or his family paying $50. Those wishing to attend the 2025 session should visit ksbstate.org to apply. The deadline to apply for the 2025 program is Wednesday, April 30; applications are accepted after that date, but on a space-available basis. In addition, those who register by Friday, Jan. 31, will receive a $50 early-bird discount. Kansas Boys State attendees are eligible to receive a three-hour course credit (Introduction to Political Science [POLSC 110]) through Kansas State University, as well as earn merit badges to attain the Eagle Scout rank through Boy Scouts of America. Additionally, attendees can apply to win a Samsung American Legion Scholarship. The American Legion Department of Kansas finalist is guaranteed to receive a $1,250 scholarship, with the opportunity to receive up to $10,000 as a national scholar. Potential sponsors, such as American Legion posts, civic organizations, businesses, clubs and interested individuals should visit ksbstate.org/sponsor-a-delegate. Questions? Contact the ALBSK at info@ksbstate.org or (785) 550-6492. For complete information about the American Legion Boys State of Kansas program, visit ksbstate.org. For information about the 2025 American Legion Auxiliary Sunflower Girls State, which will be held Sunday, June 1, through Friday, June 6, at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, visit ksgirlsstate.org. — #KSBoysState — The American Legion Boys State of Kansas is an interactive simulation that teaches high school seniors-to-be the value of democracy and civic duty. Participants form mock governments and campaign for positions at the city, county and state levels. After the elections, participants find out firsthand the difficult decisions made daily by those in government through a series of challenging simulations. Delegates, nominated to attend by their high school counselors and other influential people in their lives, are sponsored by American Legion posts and various civic organizations from across the state. All delegates demonstrate outstanding leadership qualities in student government, athletics and/or other activities. The Boys State program was founded by Legionnaires Hayes Kennedy and Harold Card in Illinois in 1935, and was first held in Kansas two years later in Wichita. The Kansas program moved to the University of Kansas in Lawrence in 1963 and remained there until 1991. The following year, it moved to its current location at Kansas State University in Manhattan. Enjoy the snow

All across the state, Kansans have been enjoying or perhaps dealing with the snow for more than a week. I have heard countless people remark that there's been more snow than we have had in years. It definitely feels like the longest snow streak we have had in the 12 years I have lived in Kansas.

There are a lot of people who hate snow. It is cold and messy. It can be dangerous and inconvenient. Others see snow as beautiful, helpful and fun. For me, snow feels like home and is a great source of joy.

My love of snow comes from the childhood adventures and joys I experienced growing up in Wisconsin. There are so many ways to have fun in the snow: sledding, tubing, snowmobiling, snowshoeing, skiing, ice skating, snowball fights, building forts, making snow angels and snowmen.

On snow days, my older brothers and I couldn't wait to suit up in snow gear and claim spots to build snow forts in the ditches of our driveway. We would spend hours designing elaborate defenses and letting our creativity run wild as we'd create our snow forts in preparation for the inevitable snowball fight.

Some of the best memories we made as a family were in the snow. I remember wandering around for hours in a snowy forest like Clark Griswold in search of the perfect Christmas tree only to cut down the first one we had considered. Many winter weekends were filled with long hours in convoys with dozens of snowmobiles trail riding through the beauty of the North woods. My siblings and I would be so mad because no matter how much of a head start we got, my dad always beat us to the bottom of the ski hill on the fastest skis in the world.

Snow wasn't only fun and games. There were many sibling bonding moments and character-building opportunities shoveling snow, getting hit by a snowball in the face or a surprise attack with snow going down your shirt. We learned to navigate the dangers of driving on ice and snow and how to avoid frostbite or other physical injuries in the snow.

My snow days are often less focused on fun as an adult. Snow in the forecast means prep work to get animals to a good place to wait out the snow, putting out extra feed and prepping water tanks for the cold. Instead of racing out to build a snow fort, my days are spent navigating snow drifts or icy roads, checking cows, clearing snow and any other unavoidable chores that will take a little longer because everything goes slow with extra layers.

There is also a different level of appreciation of snow's value on the farm as it is the moisture we need for the coming crop year in a convenient, slow-release form.

Waking up to the winter wonderland of pristine snow will probably never get old for me. I relish the peaceful moments as the world slows down. My soul fills with a nostalgic joy that comes from so many happy memories. My mind fills with the underlying excitement of not knowing what adventures the day will bring.

Snow can be seen as an inconvenience, but I hope that it was filled with great moments. I hope that it brought you a chance to slow down and rest for a moment, that you experienced beauty and nourishment, that children played in the snow and families created memories.

The Seven Warning Signs of Cancer

Recently I was working with my son's scout troop to help them achieve the personal fitness merit badge. This merit badge has many requirements including discussions about healthy habits, diet, and exercise. The scouts keep track of their exercise over a 12 week period and log everything they eat over a few days as well. One of the discussions covers the seven warning signs of cancer.

This is a simple list of concerning symptoms to watch out for and reasons to go see a doctor. Indeed, with each of these I am reminded of patients that caught their cancer diagnoses early enough to get the treatments they needed. While having any of these symptoms certainly does not mean someone has cancer, it would be wise to seek medical attention.

One warning sign is a change in bowel or bladder habits. These could be signs of colon or bladder cancer.

A second sign is abnormal bleeding. Blood in the stool and blood in the urine are symptoms to get checked out soon. Abnormal uterine bleeding, which may include heavy or irregular periods, and bleeding after menopause, deserve more attention as well.

If you experience a sore that does not heal on the skin or in the mouth, or see changes to moles or other skin lesions, then these may be a third sign of cancer that warrant an examination and possibly a biopsy to evaluate for skin cancer.

Abnormal lumps or bumps is a fourth sign. If you experience a breast lump or thickening or change in breast tissue, please get this checked out as it could be a sign of breast cancer. A lump in the testicle could be a sign of testicular cancer. Persistent swollen lymph nodes warrant further attention.

Unintentional weight loss is a fifth reason to see your doctor. While efforts at a healthy diet and exercise are good reasons to lose weight, bad reasons can include thyroid problems, depression, diabetes, and cancer.

Trouble swallowing or ongoing indigestion or heartburn is a sixth sign that could be a sign of cancer of the mouth, throat, esophagus, or stomach.

Finally, a seventh set of symptoms to watch for include a chronic cough or hoarseness that persists for a month or more. These could be a sign of throat or lung cancer, and warrant further evaluation.

This list could be longer and more detailed, and having any of these symptoms can often be caused by benign, common reasons that are nothing to worry about. However, it is important to see your trusted physician or other medical provider if you experience any of the above symptoms. Please, do not delay and wait for a symptom to pass on its own. Your body is giving you a chance to get evaluated and help yourself. Pay attention!

SPICE UP YOUR LIFE - LINDSAY YOUNG

There's 'snow' excuse for waiting to try this great soup

Creamy Parmesan Sausage Ditalini Soup

Ingredients

- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 pound Italian sausage (I used hot Italian)
- 1 small onion, diced (I used yellow)
- 6 to 8 cloves garlic, minced
- 4 cups chicken broth
- 14.5 ounces diced tomatoes, drained
- 16 ounces ditalini (or other small) pasta
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese, plus more for serving
- 2 cups fresh spinach, roughly chopped
- 1/4 teaspoon red chili flakes, optional
- salt and pepper, to taste

Directions

Heat the olive oil over medium heat in a large pot or Dutch oven. When it's hot, add the sausage and onions, breaking the sausage apart as it sautes.

When the sausage is cooked through and the onions are soft, add the garlic, sauteing for another couple of minutes or until it is lightly browned and fragrant.

Pour in the chicken broth and drained tomatoes, and stir to combine. Raise the heat to bring the mixture to a low boil, and add the pasta, stirring regularly to keep it from sticking to the bottom. Boil the pasta for the amount of time recommended on the box or until it's cooked to your liking.

Turn the heat down to medium-low, and stir in the cream. Then stir in the parmesan. Once the soup thickens and returns to a simmer, stir in the spinach, letting it cook for a couple minutes until it's wilted. Finally, add red chili flakes (if desired) and salt and pepper, to taste.

Serve the soup with more parmesan cheese sprinkled on top.

For the leftovers, you may need to add more broth (or a little water) to get it back to the same consistency. It will likely thicken more in the refrigerator.

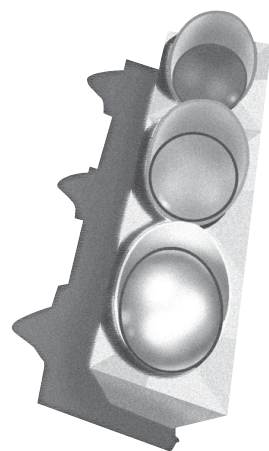

Ours was definitely thicker than the original recipe intended, but I just couldn't see having half a box of pasta sitting in my pantry for who knows how long, so I figured there was no reason to skimp on the carbs.

This was warm, creamy and tasty. I really liked the bit of heat from the hot Italian sausage and chili flakes, too, but I also love that you can leave all that spiciness out and still have an amazing meal.

And it gave us another meal of tasty leftovers for later in the week, once the daily grind resumed. Work day or not, soup days and snow days are best combined.

Spice Up Your Life is a weekly recipe column by Lindsey Young, who describes herself as an enthusiastic amateur cook and can be reached through her website at spiceupkitchen.net.

What may not be commonly known is the post also owns the building that houses Stop and Shop.

Stop and Shop is open at 134 E. Lincoln Avenue Tuesday through Friday 12:30 – 4 p.m. Call ahead on Fridays because the store is closed once a month on a Friday to provide a day off for the volunteers. On Saturdays, shop from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. All proceeds go to the support of our veterans.

August sees one family Giving what they can. Breanna and Logan Bush, students in USD 298, with help from their mother, Bonnie Bush, are giving back to the community they love. For the second consecutive year they have collected bookbags and school supplies to give to community members who need help with Back-to-School shopping. This year 18 full backpacks were delivered to various families. Even more families who didn't need a backpack, or a backpack was not available, were helped with school supplies. This is their family's way of helping beat the rate of inflation.

Teacher Tree replaced with Adopt a Teacher The Lincoln Branch of Citizens State Bank & Trust Co. hosted Adopt A Teacher program during the month of July. Volunteers chose a teacher and his/her wish list from their giving tree located in the bank's lobby. All USD 298 teachers were adopted. This was a great way for USD 298 supporters to help staff members get stocked up on classroom items they needed or wished for before school starts.

Bank of Tescott likes to "Focus on the community" The Lincoln branch of the Bank of Tescott, along with help from other branches, made progress in their Community Focus Project 2024.

The object of their affection was Quartzite Park, directly south of the old Lincoln High School. This newest park is still a work in progress with plans to develop bike trails for all members of the family.

Bank of Tescott employees pitched in to clean up the grounds, scrape peeling paint and apply new paint at the park.

The Bank of Tescott is excited to contribute to creating a beautiful space for our community to explore and have fun. This is the first of many visits bank employees plan to make. Stay tuned as they continue to make progress!

City approves Master Agreement to begin floodplain management Brett Wilkinson, representing Kirkham Michael, presented the Governing Body with a Master Agreement for engineering services regarding the floodplain management within the City of Lincoln at the August 12 meeting of the Lincoln City Council. The agreement allows for the city to contract on an as-needed basis. The city would obtain a cost estimate from Kirkham Michael for each job task requested. Following discussion, the council voted to approve the agreement.

In September Post Rock Festival is fun for all! The annual Post Rock Festival was August 31 with great weather and a great turnout. From the 5k run/walk to the parade, to the bouncy houses and the duck races, the day was tons o' fun for everyone! Here are a few of the events of the day. Parade and race photos are courtesy of Kris Heinze.

In October, the Midland Hotel celebrated 125 years The beautifully restored Midland Hotel in Wilson, KS is celebrating 125 years of history with a two-day event set for October 11 and 12.

The Midland Railroad Hotel was built in 1899 by Philadelphian Wilke Power as the Power Hotel, the Midland was once considered among the premier hotels in the Midwest.

The community "Welcome Lincoln Laundry!"

One thing Lincoln has been lacking for several years is a clean and reliable coin operated laundromat. That need has been filled with Lincoln Laundry, now open at 129 E. Lincoln Avenue. The laundry is equipped with new washing machines and dryers, chairs for waiting and a table for folding. It is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Local retailer expands. Heather Steen, owner and operator of LouMae & Ash will be opening a new retail outlet November 9 in a space that has become a business "incubator." After adding printing equipment to her space, Steen found there was little space left for retail. On November 9 that problem will be solved when the LouMae & Ash retail store will open in the front room of Village Lines, most recently occupied by KC Quilting.

Reality U Prepares Lincoln High School Students for Real-World Financial Decisions

Lincoln High School recently hosted Reality U, an engaging and educational program designed to give students a firsthand look at managing personal finances and making life choices. The event aimed to help students gain practical skills in budgeting, financial planning, and decision-making, setting them up for future success in the real world.

November

Congratulations to Olivia Dail on her performance at State Cross Country in Wamego. Rain the entire morning and afternoon made the course very muddy, wet, and slick but Olivia fought through the conditions! Way to represent, Olivia!

Local veterans awarded Quilts of Valor. On Thursday, November 11, Veterans' Day, members of the Lincoln Quilt Guild awarded several handmade quilts to deserving veterans. The awards were made at the American Legion in Sylvan Grove, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post #7928 in Lincoln. The quilts presented to the veterans fall under a special program called Quilts of Valor. A Quilt of Valor® (QOV) is a quality, handmade quilt that is machine or hand quilted. It is awarded to a Service Member or Veteran who has been touched by war. The Quilt says unequivocally, "Thank you for your service and sacrifice in serving our nation."

Quilts of Valor awards were made by members of the Lincoln County Quilt Guild at an award ceremony at Sylvan's American Legion Post #359 and during the annual Veterans' Day dinner at Lincoln's VFW Post #7928. The recipients included Melvin Berry. Berry is one of the nation's oldest living veterans of WWII. Kenneth Becker and Les Walter were also awarded QOV at the presentation in Sylvan Grove. In Lincoln, QOVs were awarded to Pete Falcon, Jim Gabelmann, Harry Brummer, Jack Meili, Don Wolting and Gerald Walter. Due to health issues, Wolting and Walter received their quilts at their homes in Lincoln.

Citizens State Bank & Trust receives regional housing champion award

Citizens State Bank & Trust Company received the inaugural Regional Housing Champion Award for Kansas at the FHLBank Topeka regional meeting in Mayetta.

In December we received "A message from the Lincoln Co. Sheriff's office"

"The cities within Lincoln County have ordinances regarding dogs within their city limits. In an effort to educate the public about the responsibilities of owning dogs within these city limits, the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office will publish a series of posts on their Facebook page.

Christmas Card project goes regional! For the past five years, Joseph Baker has orchestrated a Christmas card drive for residents at Lincoln Park Manor. As a former CNA he saw first-hand the loneliness many residents experience during the holidays, especially during the COVID outbreak across the country. With the elderly classified as high-risk for the virus, contact with family members was limited.

This year, with the help of Kansas Senator Elaine Bowers, business owners in several other counties have agreed to provide cards for the senior residents in their own county. Mitchell County has joined Lincoln and Ellsworth counties in providing Christmas cheer for their local nursing homes and assisted living facilities. This is not the end of Baker's dream for this project, however.

This is an example of how one person, with one idea, can definitely make a difference in our community and community relations. One person can make a difference, but in the end, it takes a village to see it through.

Spirit of 4-H Award. The Spirit of 4-H Award was created in the memory of Bill Clark, a lifetime resident of Lincoln County and actively engaged with 4-H as a member himself, a leader, parent, grandparent and overall supporter. He named the Lincoln County 4-H Council as a beneficiary, and in 2020 the family established this award to provide recognition and monetary support to a 4-Her who exemplifies the 4-H Spirit – living through the 4-H pledge by providing service to others to make this world a better place. While it is important that the 4-Her goes above and beyond at the Lincoln County Fair to represent 4-Hers in a positive light, their involvement in community service, church and school activities, as well as other 4-H responsibilities are also a part of the criteria to earn this award. Congratulations to Wayne Elder of the Jr. Sunflower 4-H Club for earning this award for 2024.
